Hi Erica,

I received your voicemail. Thanks for touching base yesterday afternoon. My plan is to have the cadmium criteria document revised by the end of this month and then it will go into final agency review in the first two weeks of March. I am not expecting any significant changes to occur to the values during the final agency review and hope to have a handle on final changes by the end of next week. Let's touch base the middle of next week and I will give you an outline of the key changes with this revision.

I am assuming that you are also discussing issues related to the BE with Kathryn and Jim, as that has not been the focus of my activities.
